

Abstract of the Disclosure

METHOD AND SYSTEM FOR SELECTING QUALIFICATION FORMS FOR FINANCIAL SERVICES AND FINANCIAL PRODUCTS

5

According to a first aspect of the invention, a method for coordinating an electronic credit qualification form between an Internet user and a plurality of lending institutions via the Internet is provided. This method of the first aspect of the invention involves a special loan processing computer that automatically applies a first filter to the data. According to a second aspect of the invention, a second filter can be applied to qualification form data that remains after the first filter. This second filter can be customized by a financial service provider who can also control the process of applying the second filter in a semi-manual manner.
